MEMORANDUM

To: President Johnson, Interim Chancellor, Board of Regents, and the

- That the University of Alaska Fairbanks shall be granted a new name, the University of Alaska, effective immediately.

– Will particular implementation strategies facilitate or inhibit the ability of faculty to transfer among UA institutions?

? The committee finds that there are several significant unclear aspects of proposed methods and student involvement. Currently, the AR is struggling to define state-of-the-art methods of assessment development in the transition to ETS. However, much has been learned by considering the following areas:
